CATHOLIC CHARITIES

Last week we printed a letter from Archbishop Vigneron outlining a new approach for assisting our brothers and sisters in Southeast Michigan who face life challenges. Catholic Charities of Southeast Michigan (CCSEM) responds to the fact that we are compelled by the love and teachings of Jesus to reach out in works of mercy to people of all ages and backgrounds needing our caring help. Among the many programs funded by CCSEM are adoption and foster care programs, mental health and substance abuse counseling, family support services, Hispanic Outreach services, immigration and refugee services and outreach to seniors. It is very appropriate that this collection will be taken up next weekend—the weekend before Thanksgiving. We all have been blessed in many ways. Stop for a moment to reflect on those we know or see who have so much less than we have. Envelopes are available this weekend for your Thanksgiving donation to CCSEM.

SPECIAL MASS

Next Saturday, November 22, our 5:15 Mass time will be moved to 4:00—just for this one week. There is a religious pilgrimage taking place that involves a busload of people visiting sites all over the diocese—from the Cathedral and Seminary to several churches throughout the metropolitan area. The all-day pilgrimage tour will end at Rosary at 4:00 for a Mass celebrated by Archbishop Vigneron. It would be great if many Rosary people would be at this Mass to welcome Archbishop Vigneron and the people on the pilgrimage.

DETROIT SENIORS & CAREGIVERS EXPO

Tomorrow, Monday November 17, there is a free workshop for seniors and caregivers at the Charles Wright Museum, 315 East Warren from 10 AM to 2 PM. Experts will provide information on senior housing opportunities, hospice, Medicare coverage, mobility issues, home care options, and so much more. There will be prizes and giveaways, as well as free health screenings. This is all free, part of the Making Life Better for Seniors and Caregivers program.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The time is coming to start preparations for Reconciliation and First Communion for our young people. Trina Martell is developing the schedule for instruction classes. Please see her to register children.

FINANCES

Last weekend, $2934 was contributed. 42 envelopes were used.

AN ADVENT DAY OF PRAYER AND HEALING

Our friends at St. Moses the Black parish invite us to a special Day of Prayer Saturday, November 29 from 10:30 AM to 1:30 PM at the church, 1125 Oakman Blvd. Stephen Turk will present Scripture followed by the Keynote Speaker, Gerardo Hernandez, founder of the Body of Christ ministry of Corpus Christi, Texas. Soup and salad will be served. While this event is still two weeks away, put this on your calendar. Advent is coming fast. Schedule time to get to know Jesus better this Advent season.

AN UPDATE ON A ROSARY STAR

Our friend (and flute player!) Patrick Yee attends Adrian College. The Adrian College Choir is performing Sunday, December 14 at Joe Louis Arena as part of a concert featuring the famous tenor Andrea Bocelli. Having known Patrick since he was born, we are proud to see him moving into the “big time!”
